I would like to express my opinion regarding the Microsoft Settlement. While I know that both sides have their views (backed by their own facts) Microsoft is still one of Americas finest companies ever. They play hardball (as all large companies have to), they stepped out-of-bounds, got called on it, they've already paid a high price and will no doubt pay a hell-of-a-lot more to settle and settle we should. Many of the states holding out are doing so for political reasons and that's an injustice to our country.

Let's move-on and let Microsoft continue to be the leader in their industry. Microsoft is a great American company and I'm proud to support them and a quick settlement for the good of our economy and country. For the few states that are holding out, let-it-go and get on with life and compete instead of complaining.
